

Clinical Psychologist Vacancy

- Working within a trauma informed child multidisciplinary assessment team

Psychology Associates is a dynamic, creative and expert independent practice of like-minded clinicians who are all passionate about making a meaningful difference. We are looking for a HCPC Registered Clinical Psychologist to join our existing team of Clinical and Educational Psychologists, Speech and Language Therapists and Occupational Therapists.

Due to continued expansion, we have a new post available suitable for a qualified clinical psychologist interested in trauma-focused multidisciplinary assessments, with a sound knowledge of developmental trauma and attachment theory. The clinician will receive training, support and supervision tailored to individual need. They will work within our Ofsted rated outstanding Adoption Support Agency predominantly within our highly valued and forward-thinking MDT assessment pathway. There are significant opportunities for development and broadening your clinical experience within Psychology Associates, including areas such as neurodiversity.

Opportunities

Psychology Associates has a robust commitment to training and we take great pride in maintaining high levels of CPD amongst our team. The role will include:

- Opportunities to get involved in a wide range of assessment and clinical interventions.
- Access to monthly specialist supervision.
- Support with specialist areas of development.
- The opportunity to deliver training to a variety of audiences

We are a family friendly and flexible employer who values and listens to all our employees and actively encourages team involvement in company decisions. If you would like to join a team that is continually striving to be a trauma recovery and infused organisation making a meaningful difference, through creative and dynamic assessment and interventions, we would love to hear from you.

We are committed to improving diversity and welcome all applicants.

The successful candidates should have excellent organisational and communication skills, be enthusiastic, highly motivated and able to manage their workload to meet deadlines.

If you are ready for change, a new challenge and opportunity, then please call to discuss as this opportunity may be just what you are seeking.
